

2015 YOUNG ENGINEER OF THE YEAR

ASCE
AMERICAN SOCIETY OF CIVIL ENGINEERS

DALLAS BRANCH

MARC SANDHU, P.E.

2015 YOUNG ENGINEER OF THE YEAR

Marc Sandhu is a project engineer at ARS Engineers, Inc. He has extensive design experience in multiple fields of civil engineering including the design of roadways, drainage, and utilities for various entities including the City of Dallas, Dallas County, Trinity River Authority, and TxDOT. In addition to these duties, Marc also oversees the marketing and business development aspects of ARS Engineers, Inc.

Marc attended Texas A&M University in College Station, where he earned his Bachelor's Degree in Civil Engineering and a Minor in Business in 2009. He was selected as a Texas A&M Undergraduate Transportation Scholar in 2007, which allowed him to conduct research on the retroreflectivity of nighttime road signs and a driver's ability to read signs in nighttime conditions.

An active member of his professional community, Marc serves as the Social Media Committee Chair of the Dallas Branch of ASCE and served on the Host Committee for the 2013 ASCE Centennial Celebration. He has served the Dallas Chapter of TSPE for several years and currently serves on the Board as the Alternate State Director.

Marc is committed to philanthropy, both local and overseas. He has organized the annual TSPE Dallas Chapter December Raffle for many years, which directly raises money for the North Texas Food Bank, and has organized Chapter volunteering opportunities there as well. In 2012, Marc and his wife Jessica spent time volunteering in Langano, Ethiopia with SIM. Marc developed educational materials for an elementary school, taught music and math/engineering classes to schoolchildren and also handled various administrative duties for a local medical clinic.

Marc and Jessica are covenant members of the Village Church and serve there together. Marc is a passionate musician and serves in the music ministry by playing keyboard at the Plano campus and other campuses of the Village Church.

Marc and Jessica currently reside in Plano; they welcomed their first child into the world on May 30, 2014.

